Successful Study Tips for January Intersession

Intersession is scheduled in an accelerated 14-day format. Despite the short term, the workload is the same as a 16-week session. In addition to 45 hours of course time, you should expect readings and assignments.

Some helpful tips:

- Contact your advisor about which courses you need and if January Intersession is the right choice for you.
- Look at your course information in Blackboard after the first week in December. The syllabus should list textbook and the course material information.
- Acquire the textbook and/or course materials prior to the course.
- Get a start on assigned reading before the course starts.
- Create a schedule of course work to be accomplished with a calendar after reviewing the syllabus in advance and revise if necessary.
- Contact your faculty member if you are having any problems or difficulty.
- Please note that add/drops deadlines occur within the first 3 days of the term.
- Read the refund policy: rce.csuchico.edu/specialsession/intersession
- Read the add/drop policy: rce.csuchico.edu/specialsession/intersession

January Intersession is a great opportunity to get the class you need.

For more information
Web: rce.csuchico.edu
Phone: 530-898-6105
E-mail: rce@csuchico.edu

Take a course on campus, or access a class online at home during winter break.