

A MESSAGE TO SACRAMENTO SCHOOL CHILDREN FROM A U.S. NAVY MORSE CODE INSTRUCTOR

To the class:

Hello everyone. This is CTR1 Sumrall and CTR1 Diederich from Information Warfare Training Command Corry Station in Pensacola, FL. We are Morse code instructors in the U. S. Navy. We want to thank you Mr. Wyatt for your interest in Morse code. It takes a well-trained ear and sharp mind to translate Morse code. We practice daily to keep our skills tuned for future missions. Our students typically have two months to learn Morse code and then graduate our course. They start from scratch, some students have never heard or know what Morse code is. What does that mean for you? You can learn Morse just like our Navy Sailors, maybe faster! In the U.S. Navy we don't allow ourselves to use words like "can't." Instead we find ways to make every mission a success. Sometimes it is difficult but we persevere and complete our missions despite those difficulties. There is nothing that can stop us and there is nothing that can stop you. Continue to work hard and there is nothing that you cannot achieve. We thank you for your support, wish you the best, and good luck to you all.
